Phone conversation

Kim Jensen phoned [REDACTED]. Him and his wife are very concerned about this development for various reasons: Just bought two adjacent quarters for their sons to settle down. Would not longer be possible also because of the reciprocal MDS. they have been in the area for 100 years. Succession planning is an important part to continue farming this area there is a big sand seam underneath which the applicant is also aware of, still, the catch basin is not lined. Kim has serious concerns about GW contamination. The applicant also does not live in this area but in BC, current place is operated by a farm hand. The owner would therefore not experience any of the smell and other nuisance issues while Jensens would. Not even the farm hand because the location is closer to the Jensen's yard than to the operators yard. The farm hand also does not bother about plastic waste flying around and onto neighboring fields, causing an issue. Another concern is
